The Brooklyn Scandal.

Mr. Ira B. Wheeler: My Dear Sir, - A few weeks since, after long months of mental anguish, I told, as you know, a few friends, whom I had bitterly deceived, that the charge brought by my husband of adultery between myself and the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher was true, and that the lie I had lived so well the last four years had become intolerable to me. That statement I now solemnly reaffirm.

and leave the truth with God, to whom also I commit myself, my children, and all who must suffer. I know full well the explanations that will be sought by many for this acknowledgment-a desire to return to my husband, insanity, malice, everything save the true and only one-my quickened conscience and the sense of what is due to the cause of truth and justice. During all the complications of these years you have been my confidential friend, and therefore I address this letter to you, authorizing and requesting you to secure its publication. ELIZABETH R. TILTON.

Brooklyn, April 13, 1878. The New York Tribune telegraphed Mr. Beecher a copy of the letter, and received the following letter in reply:

WAYERLY, N. Y., April 15, 1878. I confront Mrs. Tilton's confession with explicit and absolute denial. The testimony to her own innocence and to mine which for four years she had made to hundreds in private and in public, before the court, in writing and orally, I declare to be true; and the prices that may full for the rest of the the allegations now made in contradiction of her uniform solemn and unvarying statements hitherto made I utterly deny.

I declare her to be innocent of the great transgression. HENRY WARD BEECHER. INTERVIEW WITH BEECHER-WHAT HE HAS TO

SAY OF MRS. TILTON AND HER CONFESSION. NEW YORK, April 16 .- A special from Waverly, N. Y., says: Mr. Beecher, who lectured here last night, was handed a telegraphic copy of Mrs. Tilton's confession on coming down from the platform. He read it quietly and seemed in nowise excited. In reply to the question what he intended to do, he said: "Nothing at present, except to give an explicit denial." He seemed to be more sorry for Mrs. Tilton than troubled | give to a larger planting of cereals in the about himself. The correspondent asked him: "Do you believe Mrs. Tilton wrote this of her own mind, or was she influenced?" Mr. Beecher said: "I have not spoken with Mrs. Tilton for over two years. I was informed several months ago that influences were being excited through their children and others to effect a reconciliation with her husband, and that she energetically refused to consider it until he had publicly exonerated her from the charges brought against her. It was only a few weeks ago that the rumor came to me that she was in a morbid, self-condemnatory state of mind." Correspondent: "Has Mrs. Tilton ever intimated a consciousness of guilt before?" Mr. Beecher: "So far from it that it is impossible to conceive, if her present confession is true, of such an elaborate, prolonged, and extraordinary career of falsehood as she must have practiced. Upon her busband's statement of his accusations before the committee of the church she broke away from her husband's house and refused to live with him. She took refuge with a dear friend, to whom she gave one unvarying testimony of her own innocence and the baseness of her husband. She went before the Investigating Committee of Plymouth church, and with wonderful pathos cleared herself of every charge of domestic infidelity, and underwent the closest questioning. She broke friendship with former friends for doubting her statement in this matter when the case was in the court. Once, after her husband's testimony, to the surprise of my counsel and all her friends, she rose in the court and demanded of the Judge that she be permitted to testify to her innocence. She was examined repeatedly by my counsel, and plied with the most searching questions, and by her consistent and explicit testimony satisfied them all of her innocence, and won their esteem. When the council of 1876 was called, several interviews were arranged between her and eminent gentlemen, both of the clergy and of the law. In every case she satisfied them of her absolute innocence. Subsequently, at an interview arranged for the purpose of giving permanence to her declarations and form to her testimony, which was taken down by a

The Cottonwood Hotel and several buildings were blown down. Mrs. Miller was killed; her husband and four children dangerously wounded. Mrs. Walter and two children, Fred. Smith, his wife and three children, John Merritt, Lizzie Merritt, and Mrs. Matthew were badly hurt at Jacob's Creek. At Phenis Creek Mrs. Boge had her leg broken, Edward Davis's youngest child was dangerously wounded, Mrs. Osborn, who lived on the prairie, had two children killed, and Mrs. Kate Ross, who lived on Dry creek, was seriously and perhaps fatally injured. The storm reached Emporia

The opposition of both Democrats and Repubicans to the bill grew out of the fact that under it no one could be elected to the Council unless he owned $3,000 worth of real estate, or be appointed commissioner unless he owned real estate of the value of $5,000. THE WOMAN LATELY LYNCHED INNOCENT [Special telegram to the Dispatch.] HARRISONBURG, April 16 .- Jim Arbegast the colored boy held for burning the barn of H. E. Sipe, at the instigation of Charlotte Harris, was tried to-day and acquitted.

Early in March Jim Arbegast, who had been in the employ of Sipe, was brought to Sipe's barn on 28th February. The instigator of the barn-burning, it was said, was a woman named Charlotte Harris. They arrested her, after some days' chase, at Henry Banks's (colored), about two miles east of Earlysville, Albemarle county. She was at once carried before magistrates, who gave her a preliminary hearing, the evidence being such as to justify sending her to jail.

When the hearing had concluded (the hour being late) it was agreed to place the woman under guard and keep her until morning, when she was to have been brought to town and lodged in jail, there to await the penalty of the law. The guard comprised four persons.

During the night, however, a considerable number of people gathered, and, "overpowering" them, took the woman some several bundred yards distant and bung her to a "black-jack."

occupied Shumla The Times's St. Petersburg correspond ent says: "The English and Russian Cabinets have had an amicable semi-official interchange of views. . Both, however, while expressing hopes of pacification, adhere to positions which threaten war."

LONDON, April 16 .- The Times's Berlin special says preparations are making in Russia for the organization of the general levy. Passports will only be issued to persons over forty-six years of age. The Vienna correspondent of the Times says according to Berlin advices Germany will only really attempt pacific intervention | when all is prepared on both sides, so as to ensure almost certain success.

The first steps in the direction of mediaion seem to have been the obtaining of some authority to undertake the task, and all these oreliminary difficulties seem to be overcome. Those in a position to know seem to have much more confidence in the meeting of a congress.
